

International students: how to apply?

Nantes International Program

Nantes International Program offers a year of training in French and prepares students to enter a college of art, design, communications or architecture. It is open to foreign students wishing to prepare for the entrance examination of one of the colleges at which they can study for a Master's level diploma recognized by the French State.

For more information, see the site: <http://nantesinternationalprogram.com/en>

The entrance exam

For potential students wishing to study full-time in L1 (first year).

The entrance exam and an equivalence commission for mid curriculum acceptance at The Nantes School of Art is open to overseas students with a very good command of French (B2 minimum). Applicants' experience of France (e.g. language study holiday) would be appreciated by the jury.
